

Accuracy opens its new office in Amsterdam and begins the next stage of its expansion in continental Europe

Levallois-Perret, June 5, 2007- Following the Paris and Madrid offices, Accuracy has announced the opening of its third European office in Amsterdam. The positioning policy and independence of this young financial consulting firm is attracting increasing numbers of companies and financial investors.

Accuracy Amsterdam is open for business. The office is managed by Michiel Goote, age 38 and a former head of the Transaction Services Department of KPMG in Holland.

He is assisted by four senior managers, all from the auditing and consultancy industries:

Robrecht Heukers, age 32, a former employee of KPMG and PWC

Leontine Koens-Betz, age 31, a former employee of KPMG and ANDERSEN

Surita Reynolds, age 32, a former employee of KPMG

Jochem Potjes, age 32, a former employee of PWC

The decision to open the office in Amsterdam is a result of the dynamic market found here:

"The market is extremely open and active, particularly for our transaction support business and we also benefit from substantial support here from our shareholder, the Aon group" added Accuracy's Chairman & CEO Frédéric Duponchel.

The Madrid and Amsterdam offices are supervised from Paris, by Frédéric Duponchel.

With this new site, Accuracy is supporting the external growth of its clients, comprised of major listed groups, other groups and financial investors, and is also marketing its services locally to national clients.

The next stage in Accuracy's expansion in Continental Europe will be Germany, with the opening of an office in Munich planned for 2007. Accuracy now has 65 consultants, including 50 in Paris, and is emerging as one of the major players in the market.

Accuracy, (a subsidiary of the AON group), has developed a new model in financial consultancy services. The company undertakes "tailored" assignments in the corporate finance field, and does not intervene in regulated professional activities (auditing or public accounting, etc). Accuracy's areas of expertise include transaction support, corporate assessments and valuations, support with dispute resolution and litigation, in addition to corporate recovery.
