

Accuracy awarded No.1 spot in the Great Place to Work® 2016 rankings for the second consecutive year

Neuilly-sur-Seine, 23 March 2016

The “high standards and consideration” model – the managerial concept at the heart of Accuracy’s success – has been recognised once again in the Great Place to Work® rankings, which again places the firm in first position of “companies (less than 500 employees) where it is good to work in France”. Ranking in the top three every year since its first entrance in 2007, Accuracy achieved first place in 2015 and has retained this position in 2016.

The consistency of Accuracy’s top three placement in the Great Place to Work® rankings illustrates the reality and depth of the principles that the firm practices with its teams, and constitutes one of the pillars of its strategy. Trust, respect and honesty are indeed at the heart of Accuracy’s managerial strategy; they are key to the quality of work and services that Accuracy delivers to its clients, to whom the firm owes its continued success and growth since its foundation. In a business where personal investment, reliability and quality requirements are particularly high, being able to work in an environment built on solidarity, teamwork, transparency, fulfilment and involvement of all in projects and the life of the firm, is the main way of nurturing the “high standards and consideration” concept.

The Great Place to Work® Institute is a global network which surveys 10 million employees across 600 companies in 50 countries to “assess the work environment based on relationships experienced by employees.” This international label, established in almost all developed countries, assesses via the employees themselves by use of an anonymous questionnaire, the work atmosphere quality, fairness in the treatment of employees, employee information, employee solidarity, as well as training and motivation initiatives. There are 32 French companies among the 66 to make the rankings in 2016, including subsidiaries of major international groups such as McDonald’s, PepsiCo France and Mars. More than 140,000 employees were surveyed in the 2016 edition of the rankings.

By year-end 2015, Accuracy had reached €61 million in total revenue, up 11% from 2014. Present in 10 countries in Europe, Asia and North America, Accuracy opened a new office in Singapore early 2016.

Frédéric Duponchel, Chairman and CEO of Accuracy explains: “Since its foundation in 2004, Accuracy has been conceived as a collective project. The observation of high standards and consideration is our main priority because the quality of our work depends directly on the satisfaction of our teams to exercise it. This managerial policy is deeply rooted in Accuracy’s culture; it is a fundamental element of our success and will continue to support us in our future success.”
