

Accuracy expands new Hong Kong office with appointment of Director So Kim Lau

1 October 2019

Kim joins growing advisory firm Accuracy

Accuracy, the global independent advisory firm, has expanded its Hong Kong office with the addition of So Kim Lau, who joins the team as director. Kim joins Accuracy from a “Big Four” accountancy firm, where she was a director in the corporate restructuring and insolvency team.

The appointment is part of Accuracy’s strategy to grow its presence in the Asian markets. The Hong Kong office, the company’s eighteenth, was established in early 2019. It also has offices in Beijing and Singapore.

In her previous position, Kim implemented recovery strategies through commercial negotiations for a global consumer electronics business. As part of the healthcare advisory team, she also worked to put in place immediate cost-saving measures to reduce forecasted hospital deficits.

Kim has 14 years of professional experience and has worked in both the UK and Hong Kong.

Kim was seconded to Alteri, the London-based private equity fund. During her time there she worked on stressed and distressed retail financial situations around Europe.

Kim was also seconded to Barclays UK business support team, where she worked on its portfolio of underperforming loans.

Xavier Gallais, Partner at Accuracy in Hong Kong, says: “Kim brings a wealth of experience in restructuring and transactions and will be an important asset as the company continues to grow in Asia, particularly with our arbitration engagements.”

“Her experience working in-house within a bank workout team and a special situations investor gives her a unique insight.”

“Accuracy is committed to providing bespoke services on a global basis. With cross-sector experience and knowledge of both the UK and Hong Kong markets, Kim will be a valuable addition to the Hong Kong team.”

Kim’s qualifications include UK certifications for the Joint Insolvency Examination Board (JIEB) and the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Scotland (ICAS). Kim holds a BSc (Hons) degree in Accounting and Finance from the University of Birmingham and speaks English and Cantonese.
